PREFACE

The CALPACK CODE is designed to succeed and replace the codes published by the J. K. Armsby Company and the California Fruit Cannery Association. The various editions of these older works have been for many years the standard codes of the world for the fruit and vegetable packing industry. However, due to extensive changes in the methods of packing, grading and handling products, there has existed for some time a real and pressing need for a more modern code. The CALPACK CODE fills that need and is published to meet all practical present-day requirements of the trade.

GENERAL SEGREGATION

The code is divided generally into sections as follows:

Commodity Tables and Lists	Pages 1-256
Special Tables (Currencies, Numerals, Quantities).....	" 257-305
Phrases and Words.....	" 307-826
Names of Packers and Associations.....	" 827-831
Blank Code Words.....	" 832-837

Certain small tables, such as CONFIRM—ACCEPT—DECLINE, DATE—TIME, PERCENTAGES, SHIPPING—CARS, WIRING—WRITING are placed in their proper alphabetical positions in the phrase section of the book.

COMMODITIES

The products covered in the code are listed below in the sequence in which they appear in the book:

Canned Fruits	Mustard
Canned Pineapple	Bulk Sauerkraut
Jams and Preserves	Vinegar
Fruit Butters	Canned Salmon
Fruit Sauces	Sardines
Orange Marmalade	Canned Tuna
Jellies	Canned Sea Foods
Crushed Fruits	Dried Fruits
Maraschino Type Cherries	Prunes
Fruit Syrups	Raisins
Fruit Juices	Dried Grapes
Honey and Beeswax	Figs
Canned Asparagus	Dates
Canned Vegetables	Currants
Canned Ripe Olives	Beans
Olive Oil	Nuts
Pickles	Fruit Kernels, Pits and Stems

With the exception of a few minor references in the QUALITY—VARIETIES—GRADES phrase heading (pages 643-664), all commodity tables and lists are found in the first part of the book (pages 1-256). The exact location of each variety or product is shown in the Index. Important items are generally listed in combination with quantities, while those less essential are grouped in miscellaneous tables in which no quantities appear.

PHRASES AND WORDS

In arranging phrases our plan has been to group expressions under general subjects rather than to adhere strictly to a word classification. For example, many phrases containing such words as Business, Competition, Furnish, Get and Use are found under the general subjects of BUYING—PURCHASING and SELLING, while references to Accounts, Bills of Lading, Credit, Drafts, Remittances, etc., appear under FINANCIAL—DOCUMENTS and TERMS. Similarly, we have endeavored to include under CLAIMS—COMPLAINTS—SETTLEMENTS expressions relating to Allowances, Arbitration, Examination, Rejections, etc.

PREFACE

The sequence of the major subject headings is shown in the following list:

BANKS, NAMES OF	ORDERS
BRANDS—LABELS	PACK
BROKERAGE—COMMISSION	PACKAGES
BUYING—PURCHASING	PERCENTAGES
CANCELLATIONS	PORTS AND PLACES
CLAIMS—COMPLAINTS—SETTLEMENTS	PRICES—QUOTATIONS
CONFIRM—ACCEPT—DECLINE	QUALITY—VARIETIES—GRADES
CONSIGNMENTS	QUANTITIES—WEIGHTS
CONTRACTS—AGREEMENTS	ROUTINGS
CROPS—WEATHER	SAMPLES
DATE—TIME	SELLING
DELIVERY	SHIPPING—CARS
FINANCIAL—DOCUMENTS	SPECIFICATIONS—ASSORTMENTS—REQUIREMENTS
FREIGHT—DEMURRAGE	STOCK
GUARANTEE	STORAGE—WAREHOUSE
INSURANCE	SUBSTITUTE
MARKET	SWELLS
MISCELLANEOUS	TERMS
OFFERS	TRAVELING—SOCIAL
OPTIONS	WIRING—WRITING

These headings and many other leading words are shown in the Index and in the cross references of the MISCELLANEOUS section. Subscribers should take advantage of these facilities for the rapid and efficient use of the code.

All subjects of lesser importance and phrases difficult of other classification have been included in the MISCELLANEOUS heading. The arrangement is strictly alphabetical and each phrase is listed under its most important word with the exception of auxiliary and connective expressions composed of pronouns, auxiliary verbs, etc., which are generally placed under the first word. In the MISCELLANEOUS are found all single words except proper names, commodities and words relating to quality. Geographical names appear under PORTS AND PLACES (pages 607-609), while the names of products and words peculiar to their quality are listed under QUALITY—VARIETIES—GRADES (pages 643-664) and in the COMMODITY TABLES (pages 1-256).

In each phrase we have endeavored to express the idea in its simplest and most direct form. Personal pronouns have been eliminated wherever it was possible to do so. The most commonly used of synonymous words are generally employed. For example:

Get	is preferred to	Obtain, Secure
Ship	"	Make shipment
Balance	"	Remainder
Wire	"	Cable, Telegram, Telegraph
Account	"	Because of, On account of, Owing to
Send	"	Forward
Cannot	"	Impossible, Unable
Answer	"	Reply
Buy	"	Purchase
If	"	Provided

A short study of the Index and the MISCELLANEOUS phrase heading will enable users of the code to familiarize themselves with the plan of classification throughout. The elaborate system of cross references in the MISCELLANEOUS will greatly assist in the quick location of desired phrases. The references in capital letters, as "See CONFIRM—ACCEPT—DECLINE," designate the major subject headings, while those in ordinary type, as "See Wait," refer to other subdivisions of the MISCELLANEOUS. References to the various tables also appear in capital letters, as "See DECIMAL CURRENCY TABLE."

CODE WORDS

The code words are of the five-letter pronounceable type. Each five-letter word is different in at least two letters from all other groups in the book. The transposition of two adjoining letters in a word will not produce a group which can be found in the code. All such possibilities have been removed. The words comply with present regulations of telegraph and cable companies regarding coded messages. Any two of them may be joined to form a ten-letter group for cable or radio transmission, while in domestic telegrams they are to be used singly.

The Mutilation Table (inside back cover) may be used to great advantage in arriving at the correct translation of mutilated groups. Full directions accompany the table. The American Morse and Continental telegraph alphabets, with possible mutilations of each, are shown with the Mutilation Table. It must be remembered that while all telegrams in the United States, Canada and Mexico are transmitted in American Morse, cablegrams and radiograms may be handled in both alphabets before reaching their destinations, thus making it necessary to consider the possibility of mutilation in the American system as well as the Continental.

Much trouble and delay can be avoided by exercising due care in the preparation and translation of coded telegrams. Code words should be typewritten or printed in block letters—never written. The advantages offered by the Mutilation Table and the lists of telegraphically weak combinations should be utilized to the fullest extent in the deciphering of garbled groups before asking for repetitions.

CODE WORD NUMBERS

The code words are numbered consecutively from 00000 to 99999. These numbers are used in designating amounts and numbers not covered in the CURRENCY and NUMERAL TABLES. A full explanation of this system is given on page 268. The code word numbers are never to be used unless previously arranged or specifically stated in the wire.

The serial numbers also enable subscribers to use the CALPACK CODE in conjunction with other numbered codes in the same telegram without confusion. The Condenser (inside back cover) may be used in combining such codes. A full explanation of this system accompanies the Condenser.

BLANK CODE WORDS

About 1300 blank code groups have been provided on pages 832-837 for the convenience of subscribers in making up private codes to supplement the material in this work. This feature will enable users of the code to make such additions as may be needed to meet their particular requirements.

(NOTE: Although every possible effort has been made to eliminate all errors from the code, the publishers cannot hold themselves responsible for any loss or damage that may result from inaccuracies therein.)

MISCELLANEOUS NUMBERS AND AMOUNTS

EXPLANATORY: The code words on this page are used to designate numbers and amounts NOT FOUND in the Numeral and Currency Tables. In every case the word from this list must be followed by a five-letter group whose SERIAL NUMBER is to be read instead of the ordinary translation.

EXAMPLE: To transmit Invoice Number 200,123:

ORTER.....	Invoice Number follows	(2-----)
AAPUC.....	(Serial Number)	00123
ORTERAAPUC.....	Invoice Number	200123

EXAMPLE: To transmit $98.27:

ORUES.....	Amount in Dollars and Cents follows	(-----)
BYBNA.....	(Serial Number)	09827
ORUESBYBNA.....		$98.27

55801 ORPOT.....	Number follows (-----)
55802 ORPRO.....	Number follows (1-----)
55803 ORPUI.....	Number follows (2-----)
55804 ORPWE.....	Number follows (3-----)
55805 ORPYA.....	Number follows (4-----)
55806 ORPZY.....	Number follows (5-----)
55807 ORRAX.....	Number follows (6-----)
55808 ORREO.....	Number follows (7-----)
55809 ORRIG.....	Number follows (8-----)
55810 ORRJE.....	Number follows (9-----)
55811 ORRLA.....
55812 ORRMV.....	Car number follows (-----)
55813 ORROU.....	Car number follows (1-----)
55814 ORRUJ.....	Car number follows (2-----)

TELEGRAPH ALPHABETS AND POSSIBLE MUTILATIONS

Telegrams in the United States, Canada and Mexico are handled in the American Morse alphabet exclusively, while all cable and radio transmission is in Continental Morse. However, in relaying the latter class of messages to and from cable and radio offices in the United States the American alphabet is employed making it necessary to consider the possibility of mutilation in both systems.

The accompanying table gives the characters of both alphabets and many of the more common mutilations. Since all telegrams made up from the code consist of five-letter or ten-letter words, the appearance of a group of any other length will show instantly that a mutilation has occurred in transmission. This table will be of assistance in correcting such errors.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE

This table will aid in the proper translation of garbled code groups. Every word in the code can be read in both direct and reverse order from the table.

Since each word is different from all others in at least two letters it is apparent that a mutilation which involves only one letter can, in most cases, be corrected by using the table.

EXAMPLE

IBAF0— Appears in received telegram. Cannot be found in code.

ABAF0— From the table, assuming the first letter of the received word, I, to be incorrect. In reading this group from the table the fourth and fifth letters, FO, are found in the lower right-hand section. This column is followed upward until the desired third letter, A, is reached in the upper right-hand section. Then the line on which A appears is followed to the left until B as the second letter is found in the left-hand section of the table. This procedure discloses the fact that if the last four letters, BAF0, are correct the first letter must be A. Check the translation of ABAF0 against the context of the wire.

IKAF0— From the table, assuming the second letter of the received word, B, to be incorrect. This group is read in the manner described above except that the first letter must be traced in the left-hand section instead of the second. If the first, third, fourth and fifth letters are correct the second letter must be K. Check the translation of IKAF0 against the context of the telegram.

IBRF0— From the table, assuming the third letter of the received word, A, to be incorrect. This group is found by following the lines in which IB and FO are located to their intersection in the upper right-hand division. If the first, second, fourth and fifth letters are correct the third letter must be R. Check the translation of IBRF0 against the context of the wire.

IBAX0— From the code direct, assuming the fourth letter of the received word, F, to be incorrect. This word can be read from the table if desired, but probably will be found quicker in the body of the book. If the first, second, third and fifth letters are correct the fourth letter must be X. Check the translation of IBAX0 against the context of the telegram.

IBAFY— From the code direct, assuming the fifth letter of the received word, O, to be incorrect. If the first four letters are correct the fifth letter must be Y. Check the translation of IBAFY against the context of the message.

In the above there are five possibilities. If none of them agrees with the context of the wire the adjoining letters of the received word may be reversed in order, thus producing the groups BIAFO, IABFO, IBFAO and IBAOF. Also the lists of possible mutilations given on the reverse side of this sheet may be consulted to advantage. If, however, the proper translation is still in doubt it is likely that two or more letters have been garbled in transmission. A repetition of the word will then be necessary.

Code indicators have been assigned as follows:

- 0.....CALPACK CO
1.....Bentley's Code (Numbered Edit
2.....A. B. C. Code, 6th E
3.....Lieber's

The proper code indicator must be prefixed to each number before transposing. Users of the Condenser may find it desirable to have these indicators represent other codes in place of those named. This, of course, can be done after making proper arrangements with correspondents.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE

The Condenser is designed to convert the serial numbers opposite code groups into ten-letter pronounceable words. These ten-letter words may be used for cabling in place of the five-letter groups in the vocabulary of the book. Any two numbers less than 400,000 may be transposed and combined in a single word. A check figure which proves the accuracy of the transmission is also included in each ten-letter word. By means of this table as many as four numbered codes may be used indiscriminately in a single telegram without fear of confusion, as each number carries an indicating digit to show the code from which it is taken. This system is not to be employed except by previous arrangement with correspondents, as it will be difficult to distinguish ten-letter condenser words from the combined five-letter vocabulary groups.

The table is divided into two sections. The Transposing Columns are used to convert numbers into letters, while the Indicator-Check Columns determine which portions of the Transposing Columns are to be employed in making the conversions. The various combinations of check and indicating figures are also shown in the Indicator-Check Columns.

The segregation of the two-letter groups in the Transposing Columns is as follows:

- Column 0 consists of vowel-consonant combinations in alphabetical order.
Column 1 consists of consonant-vowel combinations arranged alphabetically by vowels.
Columns 2, 3 and 4 consist of consonant-consonant combinations in alphabetical sequence throughout the three columns.

A, E, I, O and U are the vowels used. W and Y appear only as consonants. The letter Q has been omitted entirely.

Example of Coding

To convert the following into a ten-letter pronounceable word carrying a check:

Code word number 07643 from CALPACK CODE
Code word number 58921 from Lieber's Code

Prefix each number with its proper indicating figure (0 and 3, respectively) and write them in vertical pairs, thus:

0 0 7 6 4 3
3 5 8 9 2 1

Add the digits of the numbers: 0+0+7+6+4+3+3+5+8+9+2+1=48, the check sum. Discard the 4 and write the unit digit, 8, directly below the left-hand pair of figures, thus:

0 0 7 6 4 3
3 5 8 9 2 1
8

Now read the three left-hand figures, 0 3 8, from the top and consult the Indicator-Check Columns for this number. Opposite it is found the five-figure combination, 01140. Then discard 0 3 8 and directly above the five remaining pairs of figures write the combination, 01140, thus:

0 1 1 4 0
0 7 6 4 3
5 8 9 2 1

Then transpose, as per Transposing Columns, as follows: in column 0 and opposite 05 is AH, the first and second letters of the code word. In column 1 and opposite 78 is YO, the third and fourth letters. Transpose the three remaining groups in the same manner, thus:

0 1 1 4 0
0 7 6 4 3
5 8 9 2 1

AHYOMOWDEP, the completed code word.

Example of Decoding

To convert the following ten-letter word into two five-figure numbers, showing the code from which each is taken, and verifying the check figure:

ENKIPHFUDA

Divide the group into pairs, and below each pair write vertically the column and line numbers in which it is found in the Transposing Columns. EM is opposite 29 in column 0, KI is opposite 47 in column 1, etc.

EM KI PH FU DA
0 1 3 1 1
2 4 6 8 0
9 7 5 3 2

Now consult the Indicator-Check Columns for the upper line of figures, 01311. Opposite it is found 1 0 7. Then discard the combination, 01311, and write the three figure group, 1 0 7, vertically to the left of the two remaining five-figure numbers, thus:

1 2 4 6 8 0
0 9 7 5 3 2

Verify the check by adding the digits of the numbers: 1+2+4+6+8+0+0+9+7+5+3+2=47, the check sum. In cases where the second figure of this sum does not agree with the received check there has been an error in transmission.

Discarding the 7 and applying the indicating figures as described we have the following completed translation:

Code word number 24680 from Bentley's Code (Indicator 1).
Code word number 97532 from CALPACK CODE (Indicator 0).
